Dear Keith,

It was great meeting you to discuss your film "End of Life Transitioning." Your vision to document the advances made through hospice is a compelling one.

Detroit Public TV is committed to covering issues in the public interest, including those surrounding aging populations and patients under care. Stories that document advancements in science and society are important to our viewers.

Public Television has always had a fine tradition of offering unique documentary programming like this. It is our sincere hope that working together this program will become part of that storytelling tradition.

I look forward to speaking with you again soon. In the meantime, I wish you the best of luck in finding production funding for your work.

Sincerely,
